Dulles to Offer Hemisphere Aid If Reds Crushed

Regarded as U. S. Attempt to Tighten Security

CARACAS, Venezuela (U-P)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today offers Latin America increased financial-economic cooperation in exchange for determined action to crush Communism in the Western Hemisphere.

The strategy Dulles will lay before the 10th Inter-American Conference is regarded here as the Eisenhower administration's first definitive attempt to tighten hemisphere security and improve "good neighbor" relations.

The secretary of state is scheduled to speak late this afternoon. The reception his speech receives is expected to provide a guidepost to future hemisphere relations. If the policy he presents is endorsed by most of the other nations at the conference, friendship among the Americans probably will be strengthened. If not, chances are it will be weakened.

Early indications—notably Wednesday's opening-day speeches by spokesmen for Peru, Venezuela and Cuba—appear to offer hope that Dulles' anti-Red crusade will be approved, at least in principle, by other American nations.

Want Anti-Red Resolution
In the past, Latin America has been generally indifferent to Communism. Most of the 20 nations have condemned it as an international conspiracy, but few have done anything effective to check its spread.

Some Latin American nations believe even now that Communism should be dealt with locally rather than on a hemispheric or global basis. To counteract this attitude, informants said, Dulles will offer increased U. S. technical aid and loans to underdeveloped nations, pledge the Eisenhower administration to fight high tariffs, and indicate that private American capital is available to nations that want it. In exchange, the secretary will press for conference action on a vigorous anti-Communist resolution—probably one declaring that Communist penetration of the hemisphere is a violation of its sovereignty and authorizing an emergency meeting of the American states whenever Red danger arises.

Christians to Unite in World Day of Prayer Tomorrow--First Friday of Lent

Editorial

Tomorrow, the first Friday in Lent, the Christian world will be united as the 67th annual World Day of Prayer is observed in 18,000 communities of the United States and in 114 other nations. When dawn breaks on the international dateline, Queen Salote and her devout subjects in the Tonga Islands will be among the first to speak a common prayer. The prayer will be echoed from continent to continent in hundreds of languages and dialects until the day closes with Eskimos in the frigid Arctic and Samoans in the tropical southwest Pacific voicing the final "Amen."

There is little unity in the world today. Perhaps the thing most desired by the peoples of all countries is peace. Yet with all of our technical, mechanical and scientific skill, the attaining of peace is seemingly impossible. Men in positions of leadership realize how little they can do without divine guidance.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has said a government without a foundation of deep religious faith "makes no sense." He continued: "Prayer is just simply a necessity."

We can be thankful that a World Day of Prayer is observed. For Christian people of the world, lifting their needs to God in prayer, can yet bring peace and unity to all nations.

Although the World Day of Prayer was begun by women and is sponsored by the United Church Women of the National Council of Churches, it is not a day for women alone. All men, women and children should participate.

A service in observance of the Day in this community will be held at 7 p. m. tomorrow at the First Methodist church. You are urged to attend. If you cannot go to the service you can remember to pray wherever you are—pray for your own needs, the needs of your friends and families and the needs of the world. Perhaps it is the greatest thing you can do. For, as Tennyson wrote:

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of... For what are men better than sheep or goats that nourish a blind life within the brain, if knowing God they lift not hands of prayer both for themselves and those who call them friend."

Mrs. Rebecca Crest, Former Equality Resident, Dies

Mrs. Rebecca Crest, 86, life-long resident of Saline and Gallatin counties, died Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Beulah Lively in Brighton, Ill.

She was the daughter of A. J. Sisk of Cottage Grove and married Ed Crest of Equality in 1893. She is survived by three children, Mrs. Beulah Lively, Brighton, Eddie Crest, Harrisburg, John Crest in Equality where she made her home, 12 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Georgia Dively, Marion, and three brothers, S. T. Sisk, Antler, N. D., R. B. Sisk, Harrisburg, and Aubrey Sisk of Equality.

The body will be taken from the Turner funeral home this afternoon to the home of the son John in Equality. The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the First Methodist church in Equality, Rev. G. A. Phelps from Advance, Ind., will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Elmwood cemetery.

A daughter, Mrs. Ruth Syers, preceded her in death.

GOP Leaders Doubt Ability for Probe Reforms

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Senate Republican leaders privately expressed doubts today about their ability to develop reforms which will end criticism of congressional investigating methods.

At his news conference Wednesday, President Eisenhower denounced "disregard of the standards of fair play" in congressional investigations and declared Republicans should take the lead in developing fair procedures.

GOP leaders have promised the President to try to come up with some improvements during a review they now are making of committee methods.

But some bluntly predicted nothing will result. And others refused to predict anything, although they said there was nothing to lose by trying.

The Senate GOP Policy committee agreed last Friday to have Chairman Homer Ferguson (Mich) direct a study of investigating methods.

The decision was a direct outgrowth of the dispute between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the administration over the senator's alleged "browbeating" of an Army general.

Thieves Steal Two Mink Coats from Apartment of Baruch

NEW YORK (U-P)—Police were searching today for thieves who stole two mink coats worth $8,000 from the apartment of elder statesman Bernard M. Baruch.

Baruch's nurse-secretary, Elizabeth Novarro, discovered the thefts Wednesday when she returned to the 20-room apartment on Park Avenue for the first time since last November.

Group Refuses To Reconsider Vote on NLRB

Stand by Plan to Throw Unfair Cases Into Federal Courts

By United Press
The House Labor committee today stood by its proposal to throw unfair labor practice cases into the federal courts.

The committee voted Wednesday to strip the National Labor Relations Board of power to handle such cases. The vote was 14-13. Today a motion to reconsider was presented, and it lost on a 14-14 tie vote.

CIO President Walter Reuther had sent the committee a last-minute appeal to change its stand. He said handing unfair labor practice cases to the courts would snarl their settlement in "great lengths of red tape."

Chairman Samuel K. McConnell Jr. (R-Pa.) said there is a chance the committee will reverse its decision before it completes work on proposed revision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

He said Wednesday's vote was on "policy" and that it may be different when the committee considers actual legislation to carry out such policy.

Other congressional news:
Farm: Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said wheat price supports might sink in 1955-56 to 77 per cent of parity under the administration's proposed farm program. Wheat and five other basic crops are now supported at 90 per cent of parity. Morse told the Senate Agriculture committee that the 1955-56 figure for wheat could drop to 77 per cent on the basis of estimated supplies.

Tourists: Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. revoked a ban on admittance of supervised tourists to the House gallery. The ban was slapped on after Monday's shooting. Martin said that in considering long-range security plans "we can't allow ourselves to get hysterical."

Revision: Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission gave Congress a new figure for the number of persons removed from government jobs by the Eisenhower administration for reasons involving "subversion." In Young's latest breakdown of persons fired for various security reasons, the number in the subversive category was 42. It was 355 on Monday and 383 on Tuesday.

Statehood: Senate Republican leaders assured Democrats that statehood for Alaska will be brought up for debate after action on statehood for Hawaii. Republicans favor admitting Hawaii to the Union but not Alaska. Democrats feel just the opposite. Before the Senate is an administration-backed bill to make Hawaii the 49th state.

Scientist Urges Building Material From Wheat Kernels

WASHINGTON (U-P)—A Washington research scientist believes cork-like building material made from wheat kernels could help "whip the problem" of America's huge wheat surplus.

Stanley F. Reed, 34-year-old president of Reed Research Inc., said the new product "has the greatest strength at the lowest cost of any competitive material I know of."

He said it could probably be used to replace plywood or foam plastics in making wallboard, doors, table tops, desks and similar products, as well as in aircraft construction.

The "wheat-board" is made by puffing up a wheat kernel to about 20 times its normal size, coating it with resin or materials resistant to rot and fungi damage, and recompressing the kernel back to whatever density is required.

Price of Brides Spirals in Nigeria; Woman Hits Money-Hungry Parents

ENUGU, Nigeria (U-P)—The only woman member of Nigeria's Eastern Assembly is urging government controls to halt the spiraling prices of brides.

The "high cost of living" has become such an issue in this British colony that an investigation recently was ordered by the House of Assembly (legislature).

Assemblywoman Mrs. Margaret Ekpo recommended price controls to prevent brides being priced out of the market by money-hungry parents.

Actually the Nigerian tradition of paying "bride price" began as a sort of dowry-in-reverse. The family of the bridegroom paid a sum to the family of the bride as a guaranty of sincerity.

Originally the bride price ran about 10 pounds ($28). "Our mothers were married with less than 10 pounds, and they were loyal and faithful to our fathers," said Assemblyman W. Abengwe.

"But today the bride price for a girl in some areas is 200 pounds to 300 pounds ($60 to $840)."

Officials have told the investigating committee that the inflated price for brides is an outgrowth of the World War II. Many Nigerians served in the British army in Burma and the Middle East. Like many fighting men they saved their pay.

Jaycee Charter Awarded to Eldorado Group

Another active chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce received a charter last night at a banquet at the Kurto Country club, when the newly-organized Eldorado Jaycee group was chartered.

Jaycees from five communities were present for the occasion, including State Secretary Bob Cook and Rocky Schoenrock, both of the Springfield chapter, and State President John King, of Wheaton. West Frankfort sent a delegation, and the Harrisburg Jaycees, sponsors of the newly-formed Eldorado chapter, were well represented.

State Vice President Ken Gray, of West Frankfort, introduced the guests and the principal speaker, President King, who delivered an inspiring address on the structure, activities, and importance of the Junior Chamber of Commerce organization. He also mentioned briefly that he was on the floor of the House of Representatives in Washington when the Puerto Rican shooting incident occurred Monday, and narrowly missed being shot as bullets smashed into the wall not six feet from where he and a colleague were standing.

Following President King's talk, he presented the charter of the Eldorado club to club President Jim Thomas, who had earlier received the president's pin from Ken Gray.

After the ceremonies, the West Frankfort club presented a series of highly entertaining pantomimes to records by Homer and Jethro. An estimated 60 people enjoyed steaks and french fries at the banquet.

George N. Healy, 78, Dies; Rites Friday at 2 p. m.

George N. Healy, 78, well-known Harrisburg resident living at 205 Dayton street, died yesterday at 7 p. m. in the Harrisburg hospital where he had been for one week. He had been ill for about two months.

Mr. Healy was born Nov. 7, 1875, in Pope county to Gilbert and Sara Healy and in 1898 he married Julia C. Flota in Norris City. He had been watchman at the Sahara warehouse for many years.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. in the Powell church near Norris City where he was a member. Rev. Ned Sutton will officiate, and burial will be in the Powell cemetery where rites will be performed by the members of the Odd Fellows lodge who will also serve as pallbearers. The body now lies in state at the Gaskins funeral home.

Mr. Healy leaves his wife, Julia, a foster son, Charles Flota of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico, formerly known as Hot Springs, N. M.; a brother, John Healy, Dexter, Mo., and a sister, Mrs. Lina Bradshaw, Harrisburg, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Two brothers, James Nathaniel Healy, Pope county, and Ezra Healy, who was fatally injured in a mine operated by the Harrisburg Coal Mining company, preceded him in death several years ago.

U. S. to Win Diplomatic Victory Over Communists in Defense Pact with Japan

Editor's Note: In the following dispatch, based on almost nine years of personal study and observation in Japan, a veteran United Press correspondent gives his answer to the question: "Where is Japan going?" The correspondent, Earnest Hoberrecht, is one of the best qualified observers in the Far East to write upon the subject. This dispatch tells how the United States has pulled Japan from the arms of the Communists and brought her firmly into the Western bloc.

BY EARNEST HOBERRECHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (U-P)—The United States will win a major diplomatic victory over the Communist world within the next few days when the Japanese take a step toward firm alignment with the free nations.

This dramatic step will be the signing of a mutual defense assistance pact by Japan and the United States—two former enemies who only 10 years ago were locked in bloody battle.

Nobody will dare to predict exactly what the next decade will bring, but for the foreseeable future, the Japanese themselves have answered the question: Where is Japan going?

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, chosen leader of the Japanese people, has made it plain in public statements and in remarks to me that Japan is going to bind herself, fully and firmly, to the family of free nations represented by America and her allies.

Important to Asia
Diplomatic and military officials here feel this is of tremendous significance in view of Japan's importance in Asia and Asia's rapidly rising importance in world affairs.

American military men shudder to think what could happen if the Communists controlled Japan's industrial machine, along with China's manpower and the rich natural resources of Southeast Asia.

Japan's swing to the camp of the democratic nations is something this correspondent has watched since landing in Japan in 1945 with the first Allied troops.

It would be unfair and untrue to say all Japanese approve of what the government and the majority of the people are doing. But the basic decisions taken thus far are without doubt in keeping with the wishes of the majority.

Here, based on almost nine years of personal observation and on-the-scene study, is a report on some of the key problems and situations in Japan today:

Cooperation with the United States: Either late this week or early next week, Japan and the United States will sign a mutual defense assistance treaty under which Japan will receive possibly as much as 150 million dollars in American arms the first year.

Communism Influence Drops
Anti-Americanism: Japanese resentment to Americans has dropped considerably from the peak it reached during the first 12 months of independence which came with the peace treaty two years ago.

Communism in Japan: Communism influence, quite strong in the early days of the occupation, has steadily dropped. The Reds polled only 652,917 votes in the last general election a year ago.

The Japanese Economy: Streets were bare and there was nothing on the shelves of the stores at the end of the war. Today, Japanese stores are filled and if you have the money there's nothing you can't buy.

The Japanese Military Situation: Japan's cabinet has just approved two new bills which, if passed by the Diet (parliament), will give Japan for the first time in eight years military, naval and air forces to protect the nation against external aggression.

Japanese Relations with Russia: Japan does not have diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union. The Russians still have a number of officials in Tokyo, leftovers from the military mission which was here during the Allied occupation.

McCarthy said Murphy Hospital serves patients who work on Project Lincoln, a top-secret study of means of defending the United States against atom bomb attack. Project Lincoln is being conducted at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

The subcommittee announced earlier that it would also call witnesses on alleged Communist infiltration of defense plants, including the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories, a privately-owned plant, at Nutley, N. J.

Belsky refused to say whether he had attempted to recruit persons at the hospital into the Communist Party.

Doctor Will Not Tell If He Is Communist

Sen. McCarthy Says Case Will Be Sent To Justice Department

WASHINGTON (U-P)—A doctor serving as an Army private near a top-secret radar project refused to tell Senate investigators today whether he was a Communist.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said the soldier, Pfc. Marvin S. Belsky, is "in a position to constantly contact patients" who have been working on Project Lincoln, which he called "not only secret but top-most secret."

Belsky invoked his constitutional privilege in refusing to answer a number of questions about possible Communist activities. When he declined to tell John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) whether he honestly felt that honest answers might tend to incriminate him, McCarthy said the case should be sent "promptly" to the Justice Department for possible contempt-of-Congress prosecution.

Belsky refused, on the basis of possible self-incrimination, to tell the Wisconsin Republican's Permanent Investigations Subcommittee whether he is a Communist today or had been since May, 1953, when he was first stationed at Murphy General Hospital, Walworth, Mass.

McCarthy said Murphy Hospital serves patients who work on Project Lincoln, a top-secret study of means of defending the United States against atom bomb attack. Project Lincoln is being conducted at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

The subcommittee announced earlier that it would also call witnesses on alleged Communist infiltration of defense plants, including the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories, a privately-owned plant, at Nutley, N. J.

Belsky refused to say whether he had attempted to recruit persons at the hospital into the Communist Party.

"The information that we have is that you are an active member of the communist conspiracy," McCarthy told the young private.

Belsky challenged the subcommittee's right to question him, on grounds that as a soldier he was under the jurisdiction of only the commander-in-chief, President Eisenhower.

McCarthy quickly overruled this, saying the President issued a statement Wednesday saying that Army personnel called before the subcommittee were expected to testify "willingly and cheerfully."

Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) asked Belsky how he answered the Army's question about whether he belonged to subversive organizations. Belsky refused to reply.

Subcommittee members present were McCarthy, Potter, and Sens. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) and Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.).

Deadline March 22 For License Plates

SPRINGFIELD (U-P)—Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter today announced motorists without 1954 license plates will be subject to arrest on and after Monday, March 22.

Carpenter set the deadline after conferences with Gov. William G. Stratton and State Police Chief Phil M. Brown. Between now and March 22, Carpenter said state police officers and automobile investigators will warn drivers of vehicles still bearing 1953 plates to buy new plates.

Carpenter said the deadline will apply to all types of vehicles, including cars, trucks, motorcycles, etc.

He said both he and the governor are requesting cooperation of local police officers in the drive to enforce 1954 license laws.

Burglars Take Three Cases of Coffee, Cash From Store at Colp

COLP, Ill. (U-P)—Burglars broke into the D&R grocery store here Wednesday night and carried off three cases of coffee.

The burglars also blew the door off a safe and stole about $2,000 in cash and negotiable checks, sheriff's officers said.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Knowland's Heckling Of Dulles Points Up GOP Split: Eisenhower Can't Put Off Much Longer Showdown With Party's Isolationists: Our Foreign Policy Should Be Politically Non-partisan.

(Ed. Note — This is another in Drew Pearson's series on the problems President Eisenhower faces in connection with Senator McCarthy.)

WASHINGTON. — When John Foster Dulles, the sincere, indefatigable secretary of state testified before the Senate Foreign Relations committee last week, he almost wept. His voice choked as he said:

"I secured an agreement in writing that the Geneva conference would not constitute recognition of China, but even so I can't seem to please you gentlemen. It looks as if there's just no way we can conduct foreign relations to your liking."

What upset the secretary of state was the persistent, relentless heckling of the man who is supposed to lead Eisenhower's policies in the Senate. William Knowland of California. The Democrats were sympathetic and asked helpful, encouraging questions. The Republican majority leader heckled and objected.

The incident illustrates one phase of the growing split in the Republican party — a split not caused by Senator McCarthy, but widened and brought into sharper focus by him. It also illustrates the problem Eisenhower himself sooner or later will have to tackle. The longer he puts it off, the harder it will be. At present he has the prestige and popularity to tackle it successfully. If he puts it off, it may be too late.

What President Eisenhower has to realize is that the Republican party for years has been divided between the isolationists and those who believe in world cooperation. He has to realize that Senator McCarthy and the little group which brainwashed his secretary of the army, represent the extreme isolationist wing of the party. And he has to realize that he has to side with one group or the other and begin leading the nation before extremists take away control altogether.

LESSONS OF THE PAST
Eisenhower, a lifelong military man, probably doesn't realize it, but the Dulles-Knowland incident of a Republican senator heckling a Republican secretary of state has occurred often in the past. This newsman, as a young reporter covering the State Department, watched example after example. The accumulation of these incidents eventually paved the way to war. Here are some of them:

Republican Split No. 1, as far back as I can remember took place during the London naval conference in 1930 when some of us newsmen wrote stories that Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of state and one of the most revered leaders of the Republican party, proposed a consultative pact. This pact merely pledged the United States to consult in case war threatened. It pledged no use of troops or anything else; merely that we would talk things over.

But after our news stories broke, Stimson called a press conference in London at which he confirmed them; while Herbert Hoover called a press conference in the White House at which he denied that the United States would enter a consultative pact. The isolationist wing of the GOP triumphed.

GOP split No. 2 occurred when the Japanese war lords entered Manchuria on Sept. 18, 1931. Secretary of State Stimson immediately saw this for what it was — the beginning of a Japanese attempt to dominate all Asia. I remember writing that he had contacted the Canadian, Mexican and Chilean governments to ask if they would cooperate with us in the Pacific in case of war; and I remember Stimson calling me up to his house that night to ask that I not write any more along that line because it was making things difficult for him at the White House and with the isolationist wing of the Republican party. The story, he said, was true, but embarrassing.

READING OFF WAR
What Stimson wanted was to head off Japanese aggression before it blossomed into war. The isolationists, on the other hand, didn't want to get even remotely involved. And later when Stimson instructed the U. S. consul general at Geneva to sit in as an observer during the League of Nations' efforts to block Japan, the isolationists even forced him to withdraw the observer.

Had Henry L. Stimson, an energetic, liberal Republican, been able to build up the peace machinery of the world when the seeds of war first sprouted in 1930-31-32, there might well have been no second World War. But he was blocked by the isolationists.

GOP split No. 3 was tackled by another great Republican, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. It was Vandenberg who worked with Roosevelt and later Truman to try to keep American foreign policy out of partisan politics. And I remember a talk I had with Vandenberg about a year before he died. He looked tired, and complained about his headaches. But even more, he complained about the trouble given him by his own Republican colleagues in the Senate. And he named McCarthy, Knowland and some of the men who are giving Eisenhower and Dulles trouble today.

It was Vandenberg, of course, who picked Paul Hoffman for the important job of administering the Marshall Plan. It was also Vandenberg who arranged with Dean Acheson to put John Foster Dulles right inside the State Department alongside the Democrats.

But Vandenberg is dead now, and the man who in part has taken his place as Senate Republican leader has been the chief heckler of the Eisenhower foreign policies.

DOES IKE UNDERSTAND?
Another conversation which I remember vividly was with General Eisenhower at NATO headquarters in Paris in 1952. Having been among those who had talked to him early about running for President, I had the temerity to point out that his chief problem, as President, would be with the isolationist wing of the Republican party, the China lobby, and one of its chief spokesmen, Senator McCarthy.

General Eisenhower listened carefully. But it was obvious from the questions he asked that he just did not understand that phase of the problem ahead of him.

Today, of course, he certainly should understand it. But as some of his best friends among the newspaper publishers have warned him, he will have to move vigorously if the McCarthy-isolationist wing of the Republican party is not to get completely out of hand.

Marratt didn't need Crafrin's shout to know they'd seen him. The sharp crack-crack of a fast-firing saddle gun would have told him if the splatter of rock chips and the ricochets hadn't. Discarding the last drag of caution he hauled himself into the water crack barely in time to avoid being riddled in the belated blast from the Wineglass riders.

He didn't stop to catch his breath but shoved everything he had into reaching the rim. What little shelter this crevice afforded was made possible only by the matter of angles which would be no good once that bunch got below him. The upward pitch of the crack—roughly 70 degrees—gave him enough traction to make his efforts count double in the matter of speed. He got over the rim.

He scrubbed a hand across his jaws and knuckled the sweat from bloodshot eyes. Back away from the rim was the crest of the hogback and thickets of cedar which they'd search straight away. And back of these the ground dropped through that stand of saguaros into chaparral which was too far away to be of any use to him. Afoot and without any kind of weapon his only possible chance of escaping destruction was to get back into that swale he'd come out of.

With Ryerson's headquarters reduced to glowing embers it was much darker up here than it had been. The night swam around him in thick whorls of blackness and, near the head of the trail, he blundered into a rock which knocked the legs out from under him and flung him heavily, gasping, down across its farther side.

Hardly had he hauled his battered body down behind it than Crafrin's crowd came boiling up out of the murk. Creak of leather, clank of metal and the restive stamping of excited panting horses, told Marratt they had stopped short yards away from his concealment.

"He can't get far," the ramrod's voice abruptly grumbled. "Tracy, you an' Chuck hike along the west flank of this ridge an' keep your eyes peeled. Gimpy an' Gainer will stay here with me in case he tried to double back. Rest of you boys spread out an' comb this hogback an' them cedars off beyond it."

Marratt sucked in his breath at that mention of Gainer. If the fellow was here with Crafrin, it didn't seem too likely he could have had a hand in setting that fire—not at first, that is. But the more he mulled over the implications, the more Marratt was convinced it was exactly what he had done. Listening to the rant of his obsequious whine Marratt could see what that two-faced skunk was up to.

Playing in with Crafrin openly Gainer had spied himself the fate of his more forthright neighbors. He'd been allowed to keep his spread throughout the course of

Former Illinois Man Held for Robbery, Murder

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Police held a penniless gambler, James J. Cleary, 28, on a murder charge today shortly after the former Bellwood, Ill., tavern owner admitted killing a Western Union woman clerk with a screwdriver.

Victim of Cleary's assault was Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, 47, a widow and mother of three children.

Mrs. Hazel Willaman, the other clerk on duty at the time of the slaying, identified Cleary as the killer.

Cleary, a handsome, curly-haired six-footer, was arrested at a motel where he had been staying with his wife, Eliza, 28. Mrs. Cleary, a former Chicagoan, was held as a material witness.

Cleary told police he and his wife were married Feb. 23, five days after they came to Reno from Chicago. He said he had lost all his money drinking and gambling.

Returned to Rob Office

Wednesday evening, he cashed a Western Union money order for $500, which he lost gambling. He returned later to rob the office.

Mrs. Willaman said a man entered the office about 2 a. m. and spoke to Mrs. Jenkins.

"The next thing I heard was a kind of groan and I heard Mrs. Jenkins say, 'Oh, no!'" she told police.

Mrs. Willaman said she saw the man striking Mrs. Jenkins on the head and face with a large screwdriver. She picked up the telephone and called police.

Cleary began chasing her through the office, and she raced into a gambling club next door and screamed for help.

Cleary picked up $135 from the cash drawer and ran to his car. He had the money in his possession when he was arrested.

The car was found abandoned on a truck company parking lot. Police traced it to the motel where Cleary and his wife were living.

Snow Hampers Travel in Northern And Central Illinois

By United Press

Below - freezing temperatures and moderate winds today combined with a deep snow blanket to hamper travel in parts of northern and central Illinois.

The "million dollar" snow for drought-troubled farmers which fell Tuesday night ranged from a depth of 12 inches in Chicago to an inch as far south as Centralia and Lawrenceville.

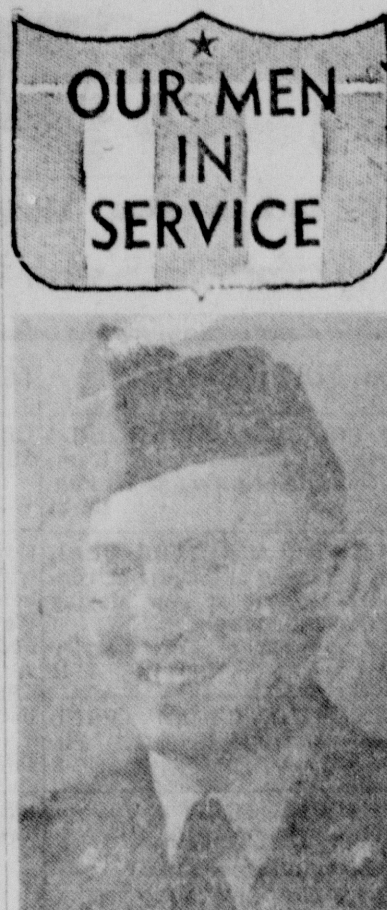

Drifting snow caused most of today's troubles. The State Highway Division reported temporary snow blockades and one-way traffic existed at scattered spots in the area north of a line through Quincy, Lincoln and Danville and south of a line through Rock Island, Dixon and Elgin.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our son, Larry Gene Braden, who departed this life one year ago today, March 4, 1953.

A year has passed of lonely nights and days.

We do not question any of God's ways.

In faith we bear the burden of our loss

As we remember Jesus bore the cross.

Our loss is great but surely not entire—

Our son is singing with angelic choir.

While God the Spirit soothes the aching heart.

We know in heaven we shall never part.

No Fight with Eisenhower, McCarthy Says

Senator Hopes Dispute Over Probe Procedure Be Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said today he had "no fight with Eisenhower at all" and hoped their dispute about his Senate investigating committee procedure now could be dropped.

The Wisconsin Republican said he and the President had made their positions clear and that Mr. Eisenhower was as strong as he on the subject of Communists in government.

McCarthy's language and attitude today were friendly toward the White House. But many capital veterans saw in Wednesday and today's developments more postponement than answer of one of the hottest political questions of this general election year. That is: Will McCarthy permit Mr. Eisenhower and the Senate Republican leadership to monitor his conduct of committee investigations.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the millions of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. did not quite come off. What happened was a repetition of last year's incident in which the President gave his news conference an implied rebuke and repudiation of McCarthy's actions. That one related to foreign policy. Wednesday's had to do with McCarthy's rough questioning of Brig. General Ralph W. Zwicker.

A mimeographed, two-page statement at the President's news conference defended and praised Zwicker, whom McCarthy is alleged to have abused in questions about the honorable discharge of a known "Fifth Amendment Communist."

The President's statement also deplored and repudiated "disregard of the standards of fair play recognized by the American people." He put it straight to the Republican leadership of Congress to enforce those standards in congressional hearings.

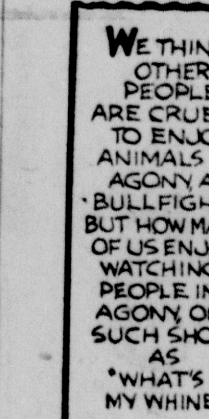

This statement unmistakably was directed at McCarthy and intended as a rebuke. But it did not name the senator. In another phase of the conference, Mr. Eisenhower said it was none of McCarthy's business how duties were shifted among personnel of agencies of the executive department.

In an answering statement, the senator said any "witless, ignorant or arrogant" witness, general or not, who seemed to be favoring Communists or their sympathizers would continue to get the works from the McCarthy investigating subcommittee. But he found himself and the President in agreement on Communists in government and what to do about them.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has disclosed that the Defense Department is moving to close "possible loopholes" in the handling of Communists and subversives in the armed services.

He said "there is an immediate and pressing need for clarification of laws" relating "to that small group of Communists and other men" who may "prove not to be suitable to serve in the armed forces."

To Begin Work on Illinois Toll Roads Next Year: Stratton

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Construction will begin next year on self-liquidating toll highways in Illinois, Gov. William G. Stratton has reported.

Stratton told the 40th annual Illinois highway engineering conference Wednesday night the new toll highways commission has begun a priority study on 500 miles of potential toll expressways.

Following its completion in 90 days will be a four-month engineering and earnings report. After that the commission can go ahead and sell bonds, award contracts and "start building turnpikes," Stratton said.

He said the toll road program, authorized by the 1953 Legislature, has been launched in time to keep Illinois from being an "island" in the midst of neighboring states which have similar expressways projected.

"Illinois will be ready to meet these roads with connecting links to serve a vastly increased traffic volume which will deliver new thousands of motor vehicles daily to our borders," he said.

Deadly Killers
Apparently harmless items—cleaning fluid, washing powder, drain cleaner, kerosene, mothballs, antiseptics and disinfectants are responsible for hundreds of deaths. Most of these products give no warning of danger on the label, for they don't come under the federal caustic poisons act.

Tips on Traffic Safety
By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State

Any licensed driver or chauffeur in Illinois whose record shows he is repeatedly being involved in accidents may be required to submit to a re-examination, even though his current license may be effective for several more months.

This is one of the provisions of the new Drivers License Act (Sec. 35) intended to keep incompetent drivers off the highways. Injuries may have impaired an individual's use of his arms or legs, failure to have eye-glasses changed may have rendered his vision substandard or advancing age may have caused deterioration of reflexes to a point where the person is no longer capable of driving a car in a safe manner.

Rather than permit those people to continue driving when they are a constant danger to themselves as well as others, the law provides for their re-examination. In some cases, merely getting the proper glasses or having the car equipped with rearview mirrors on both sides will be all that is needed to enable the person to meet examination requirements, and again be a safe driver.

Egyptian Health Dep't News

TUBERCULOSIS CASE FINDINGS
For the next several days, Mobile Unit X-ray machines will be in Saline, White, and Gallatin counties. The organizations sponsoring these units are your Egyptian Health department, County Tuberculosis association, and County Tuberculosis Sanatorium boards. They all urge you to visit the unit near you and get your chest X-rayed. Prior to the arrival of the units, tuberculin testing has been offered to every student in all the high schools in the three counties. Every person over 15 years of age, and all the school children who had a positive reaction from the tuberculin test will be given a chest x-ray free of charge.

For a long time, emphasis in treatment of tuberculosis as well as in case-finding, has been on adolescents and young adults because of the heavy incidence in these age groups. Without relaxing in efforts to prevent and control the disease in these young people, special attention must be directed to the large group of persons who have already passed their fortieth birthday, those in their fifties, their sixties, seventies and even those in the eighties. In the older patient active and communicable tuberculosis may produce no symptoms that are in the least suspicious, but the x-ray film will show the disease to be present.

Because the cause and cure of tuberculosis are known, it is possible to effect complete eradication of this disease. It is not one person's responsibility, but a concerted community effort to locate those harboring the germ and through their treatment remove them as carriers to spread the disease.

Much can be done for patients with advanced tuberculosis, but even more can be accomplished in those in whom the disease is found early, for they can be returned to normal good health.

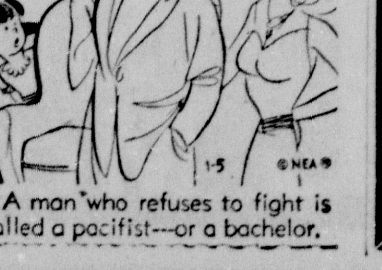

Do your part to help eradicate tuberculosis. Seek your physician's help to take the necessary steps, not only for the sake of your own good health, but for that of your family, your friends and neighbors.

Tuberculosis ranks seventh as the cause of death in this country and it is still the first cause of death from disease among persons from 15 to 34 years of age. So visit the Mobile Unit X-ray nearest to you and do your share in helping to eradicate tuberculosis by finding it early.

Britain Opens Trade Talks with Poland

LONDON (AP)—Britain opened formal trade negotiations with Communist Poland today and shortly will open similar talks with Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

The purpose is to restore trade relations which have withered in recent years as a result of East-West tension and the West's embargo on strategic supplies to Iron Curtain countries.

Shawneetown Beats Eagles; Benton Eliminates Wildcats

Indians Advance To Semi-Finals In 50-42 Victory

Will Play McLeansboro Tonight; Bull Dogs Meet Mt. Vernon

The Shawneetown Indians, winners of the Ridgway district tournament, last night eliminated Eldorado from the Mt. Vernon regional tournament, defeating the Eagles 50-42 in the second game of last night's session.

The Indians will meet the McLeansboro Foxes, winners in the first game last night over Wayne City, 70-62.

Tonight, in semi-final play, the Harrisburg Bull Dogs will play the Mt. Vernon Rams in the first game at 7 o'clock and the Shawneetown Indians will meet the McLeansboro Foxes in the second game at 8:30. The Bull Dogs won their opening round game from the Fairfield Mules, 74-73, Tuesday night, and the Rams defeated Cissne, 62-28, in the opening game of the regional tournament.

Eagles Take Early Lead

Last night the Shawneetown Indians were behind 10-4 at the end of the first quarter but had closed the gap to 18-17 at the half. Then early in the third quarter they took the lead and were never headed in the closely fought ball game.

The Eagles scored a 6-0 lead early in the first period with two baskets by McRoy and one by Long before Nolen and Newsom tallied for Shawneetown. Another basket for Eldorado by Banks completed the first quarter scoring.

The Indians scored 13 points to eight for the Eagles in the second quarter to close the gap to 18-17 at halftime, and then in the third quarter, with Newsom scoring eight points and Nolen six, the Indians emerged with a 31-26 lead.

Both teams pressed during the final quarter and Eldorado used several substitutes but was unable to head the Indians' rampage. Whittier, a substitute, paced the Eagles during the quarter with six points.

Newsom Leads Scoring

Newsom of Shawneetown paced both teams in scoring with 18 points, followed closely by his teammate Nolen with 16. Mackovjak led the scoring for the Eagles with 11 points.

The Indians cashed in with 12 free throws, to eight for Eldorado. The Eagles did not make a free throw until the final quarter when they made eight. Coach Barney Genisio of the Indians made only one substitution during the game. Joyner went in the game in the fourth period when Willis was hurt.

In the first game of last night's session, the McLeansboro Foxes led Wayne City 16-14 at the end of the first quarter, 28-26 at the half, 44-29 at the end of the third quarter, and 70-62 at the end of the game.

The box score of the Shawneetown-Eldorado game follows:

Shawneetown (50)	fg	ft	tp	pf
Nolen	6	4	16	2

Only 14 District Winners Remain in Regional Play; Top Teams Post Victories

SPRINGFIELD 19—Only 14 "Little Davids" remained in the running for the 1954 Illinois prep basketball crown today as 215 regional tournament survivors neared the finish line.

La Grange, Pinckneyville, Quincy, Cedarville and virtually all other top-ranked teams swept by foes in Wednesday night tests.

But the ranks of the smaller schools which battled their way through district tournaments to the regionals were rapidly being thinned. Of the 44 district teams that went to the regionals, there were 14 survivors including such fine teams as O'Fallon, Macon and Rich Township.

O'Fallon, sporting one of the finest won-lost records in the state, spanked East St. Louis Lincoln 82-58 for its 29th victory in 30 games, in the East St. Louis regional.

Pana Ousted

Macon pulled a surprise in the Taylorville regional, ousting favored Pana 66-63. Macon, displaying a 24-1 record now, next meets Shelbyville, 79-52 winner over Moweaqua.

Rich Township, idle Wednesday, tackles Chicago Heights Bloom tonight in quest of a final berth at Joliet. The other finalist will be Harvey, 64-51 victor over Joliet Wednesday night.

Other district teams remaining include Bowen, Chrisman, Elizabeth, East Lynn, Jacksonville, Rountt, Gladstone, Windsor, Shawneetown, Roberts, Waterman and Mounds Douglas.

La Grange went on another scoring rampage in the Riverside regional semi-finals, walloping Downers Grove 95-67. It was victory No. 21 in 22 contests for the defending state champions.

Pinckneyville Defeats Sparta

Harrisburg and Eldorado Alumni to Play Benefit Game

Eldorado is staging a benefit basketball game next Tuesday night between Harrisburg and Eldorado alumni, the funds to go toward beautification of the Eldorado city hall.

The city hall improvement is one of the phases of Eldorado's Operation Bootstrap.

The game will be played in the Eldorado gymnasium starting at 7:30 and tickets are being sold now at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. In Harrisburg they are available at Myron's, at the Skaggs and Webster pharmacies and at Craggs-DeViliez. In Eldorado they are at the Eldorado Craggs-DeViliez furniture store, at Baker's furniture store, Hobbs jewelry store and Draper's store for men.

Besides the game, the ETHS band will play and there will be a talent twirling exhibition. The teenagers will have a concession stand and its profits will be put into the Teen Town, which will be on the third floor of the city hall.

Carrier Mills 47-45 Loser in Defensive Tilt

Rangers Will Play In Final Against Winner Tonight

The Carrier Mills Wildcats reached the end of the 1953-54 basketball trail last night, dropping a 47-45 decision to Benton in semi-final play of the Benton regional tournament.

The victory carried Benton into the championship round of the tourney and the Rangers will meet the winner of tonight's semi-final game, featuring West Frankfort and Johnston City, in the title tilt Friday.

Last night's game was a tight defensive battle from the very start and it was the defensive play and not any attempt to slow down the game that held the scoring in lower figures.

Benton came up with a defensive maneuver that kept the ball away from Oliver Rollins, Carrier Mills' high scoring center, under the basket. Time-after-time the Rangers were able to reach around Rollins, without fouling him, and bat away passes. That is a trick no other team had used successfully this season.

Benton broke fast and rolled to a 7-1 advantage. The opening quarter was nearly half over before Carrier Mills connected with a field goal, a nice effort by Jim Miller. Shortly thereafter Culbreth grabbed a loose ball and raced in for a layup and at quarter time the 'Cats trailed only 11-7. Shoot Works in Final Period

In the second frame, with Lowell Stricklin doing some tip-top rebounding, Carrier Mills spurted into the lead and at one point was on top 17-13 and again 19-15, but Benton held a 20-19 lead at intermission.

The third period was a low-scoring affair, eight for Benton and seven for the 'Cats. In this frame Benton was in front at one time by six points, 28-22, but Carrier Mills closed the gap to trail only 28-26 as the final frame got underway.

Both teams shot the works in the fourth and final period, each hitting for 19 points. Carrier Mills trailed throughout and at various times appeared to "be on the ropes," but always bounced back.

With time rapidly running out and Benton holding a 47-40 lead Carrier Mills' fans had every reason to think it was all over, but the team then rallied to hit three fielders and was putting up a terrific battle for one more shot when the final horn sounded.

Culbreth, team captain, who played an outstanding game, sparked the rally, swishing the nets for two from the field and Cowger connected for the last one.

Five of the 'Cats finished their high school career last night—Culbreth, Miller, Stricklin, Cowger and Craig are seniors.

Busch Millions Providing All-Out Effort to Bring St. Louis a Winner

ST. LOUIS 19—Money, as the folks are always telling the kids, doesn't grow on trees.

But it evidently grows with the Busches, particularly August A. Busch of the St. Louis brewing family.

And the fans of the St. Louis Cardinals are awed and delighted at President Gussie's all-out, six-million-dollar effort to bring the team home a winner.

Busch, whose main interest in the past lay in field sports rather than baseball, stepped in in the nick of time last year when it seemed that former owner Fred Saigh would surely sell the Cards to Milwaukee interests.

He paid Saigh 3 1/2 million dollars for the far-flung Redbird organization and tapped his well-filled wallet for another $1,100,000 a little later to buy the ballyard, then known as Sportsman's Park, from Bill Veck.

Busch spent, in cash and players, a total of nearly $200,000 with San Diego for Luna and Alston. He paid another $100,000 to Cincinnati for Grammas and still another $100,000 to the New York Yankees for Raschi. Players of less fame picked up along the way probably cost another $50,000.

Rebuild Ball Park

While all this was going on Busch was completely rebuilding an ancient and somewhat decrepit ball park. When ready for opening day, it will be one of the most beautiful enclosures for Doubleday doings in the majors.

The bill for this particular operation is conservatively estimated at 1 1/4 million dollars.

When Busch took over the reins many diehards complained about his change in the name of the park. Busch Stadium, they moaned, just didn't mean anything but Sportsman's Park had a glorious tradition.

They haven't a leg to stand on now.

It's really Busch Stadium.

The football team of the University of Alabama is known as the "Crimson Tide."

Nat Holman is Found Guilty of Cage Misconduct

NEW YORK 19—Nat Holman, famed basketball coach of City College of New York, was found guilty today of "conduct unbecoming a teacher and neglect of duty" by the Board of Higher Education. The board, after ruling on the charges which arose from the "fixing" scandal in which seven members of the CCNY basketball team were implicated, then voted that Holman "be dismissed" from the faculty "unless within 30 days he files an application for service retirement."

The action by the board, which is the governing body of all colleges operated by the City of New York, came as somewhat of a surprise since on Feb. 25 a special trial committee appointed by the board had voted, 2-1, for Holman's exoneration.

Under Suspension

The board considered the report of the trial committee in a five-hour meeting that ended at 1 a. m. today and decided to adopt the minority recommendation. Accordingly, it found Holman guilty of one count of "conduct unbecoming a teacher" and three counts of "neglect of duty."

Holman, along with assistant basketball coach Harry Sand and Professor Frank S. Lloyd, chairman of the hygiene department of CCNY, had been under suspension since Nov. 18, 1952 when the charges against them were brought. Lloyd has since resigned and neither the committee nor the board took any action on his case.

Regarding Sand, the board found him guilty on two counts but "because of Sand's cooperation with the investigating committee, his frank admission of guilt, and his expression of repentance" recommended that he be restored to the faculty as of Wednesday.

The action by the board apparently wrote "the end" to Holman's long career as head basketball coach at City College from 1919 through 1952. During that time, he compiled one of the most brilliant coaching records in the nation and his career reached a peak in 1950 when CCNY won both the National Invitation and National NCAA—a feat never performed before or since by any other team.

Negro Rookie Sparks Cubs

MESA, Ariz. 19—The Chicago Cubs, who have been searching for a top-flight shortstop since the heyday of Billy Jurgens, think they have at last found their man in slender Ernie Banks, a Negro rookie up from Dallas.

The 22-year-old Banks, who never played a game of baseball until he was 16, has been sparkling in intra-squad games at the Cubs' training camp, taking up where he left off in a 10-game trial at the end of last season when he hit a lousy .314.

"He's quick as lightning," said Manager Phil Cavarretta enthusiastically. "I don't see how he can miss. The one thing we have to determine is whether he can go into the hole and make the good throw from deep short."

Theodore Roosevelt ran for the presidency for the third time under the Blue Moose Party, after he split with William Howard Taft.

Selvy, Don Schlundt, Gola, Hagan and Pettit Named To UP All-Star Cage Team

NEW YORK 19—The 1954 All-America basketball team, perhaps the highest scoring college all-star squad ever assembled, was announced today by the United Press.

Paced in vote-getting by Furman's famed Frank Selvy, the most prolific scorer in the history of the game, the team also included Don Schlundt of Indiana, Tom Gola of La Salle, Cliff Hagan of Kentucky, and Bob Pettit of Louisiana State.

If this "dream team" ever played a game as a unit and each player matched his season average in points, the team would roll up a fantastic 147.1 points for that game.

Selvy, of course, boasts the highest scoring average on the squad, 42.5 points a game, as a brilliant star who has virtually rewritten the book by marking up approximately 20 all-time scoring marks.

Two Juniors on Squad

The six-foot, nine-inch Pettit, who also eclipsed the all-time average record this season, tallied 32.6 points per game. Schlundt 24.7, Hagan 24.3, and Gola 23.0.

Schlundt and Gola were the only juniors selected on the squad, the other three men are seniors. Gola is the only holdover from last year's team, although Hagan was named to the 1952 team and was ineligible last year because his Kentucky team was under a year's suspension by the NCAA.

A total of 345 sports writers and radio broadcasters took part in the balloting and Selvy was mentioned 90.4 per cent of the ballots cast. The six-foot, three-inch Furman Marksman was a first-team selection on 304 of the 345 ballots on a second-team pick and on 25 others. Schlundt was named by 84.1 per cent of the voters, Hagan by 74.5 per cent, Gola by 72.5 per cent, and Pettit by 62.3 per cent.

Second and Third Teams

Lone holdover on the second team was Clarence (Bevo) Francis of Rio Grande, who smashed the small-college scoring marks. Also named to that squad were Dick

Water System Improvement Proposals

The following is a summary of the proposed project of increasing Harrisburg's city water supply, provided under a $200,000 bond issue proposal to be voted on March 18, 1954.

The proposal is to build a dam and collect water on a site near Galatia, permitting the water to flow by gravity down the Middle Fork Drainage ditch to the city reservoir. All water impounded would be suitable for use and free of minerals. Each rainfall would add to the reservoir, and the annual average rainfall would provide sufficient water for a three-year supply.

The bonds would be paid out of water revenue, and not as a direct tax against property. The more water a customer uses, the more his proportion of the cost of the project.

The land to be purchased, on the basis of options, totals about $75,000. However, in many instances it is necessary to purchase entire farms, whereas only a part will be used. The owners do not want to sell small portions. After the water level is determined, the excess land will be re-grouped and sold or leased by the city at sufficient income to reduce the actual cost of land purchased to approximately $57,000.

A Statement By the City Council And Water Board of Harrisburg:

The members of the Harrisburg Water Board and the City Council have been working toward a satisfactory water supply for a long period. They do not propose that the project is perfect. In some instances they believe the cost of the land too high, but where property owners do not want to sell, their price must be met.

The water improvement proposition is presented to the residents of Harrisburg as the best possible solution to the city's needs, and the will of the voters will be followed.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

Brownsville

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University
Anniversaries and tragedies seldom occur on the same day. They did, however, when fire destroyed the courthouse at Brownsville, first county seat of Jackson county, on January 10, 1843, exactly 27 years from the day when the county had been created and Brownsville designated as the seat of the county government.

Perhaps no one watching the dying fire on that January morning realized that the hopes of a prominent southern Illinois town were likewise fading, but such was true. Rumors intimating that the courthouse had been purposely burned soon began to circulate. The County Commissioners Court felt it necessary to select a committee to determine the cause of the fire and report. This committee found no evidence that the courthouse had been burned on purpose. The blame for the fire was placed on the carelessness of someone who stored hot coals and ashes in a wooden box in the lower room where a school was held. Vote to Move County Seat

Even before the fire there had been some talk of moving the county seat to a new location. After the fire an active move to do so got under way, along with another to divide Jackson into two counties. Petitions for both were circulated. The petition to relocate the county seat was recognized and an election was scheduled. The proposition was voted upon and

Dice Table Seized At Centralia Club Is Found Rigged

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—State Police Lt. Elza Brantley said today a dice table seized in a raid at the Paramount Club at Centralia Monday night was rigged so the dealer could control magnetized dice.

"Four 5-volt auto batteries were in the legs of the homemade table," he said. "They're connected to steel plates across each end of the table under which are coils of copper wire containing about 1,000 feet of wire."

"Four small drawers—like cash drawers—are at dealer's ends of the table and connected to the batteries. When the magnetic dice, which we took in the raid, were rolled a bump on the drawer could control them."

Brantley said the dice state police seized were magnetized on the "six side." He said an expert dealer would know just when to switch on the batteries to control the roll of the dice.

Capt. Walter A. Eichen, who led the raid with Brantley, filed a complaint of possession of a gambling device against Russell Corbin in Washington County Court Tuesday. Corbin is holder of the liquor license of the club, which also was raided Jan. 17.

carried by a narrow margin, accompanied with loud and repeated cries of "fraud."

A committee of three men, not residents of the county, was appointed by legislative authority and instructed to select a new site. The location chosen was one on the farm of Dr. John Logan, perhaps the most influential man in the county, who offered to donate 20 acres of ground for the new village.

A town was accordingly platted and named for Mr. Murphy, one of the three men selecting the site. Lots were sold, some buildings were erected, and a new village, first spelled Murphy's Borough, then Murphysborough and finally Murphysboro, came into being.

Village Rapidly Declined

The last meeting of the County Commissioners Court was held at Brownsville on December 6, 1843. County records and offices were removed to the new town. Merchants, tradesmen and professional men followed. The old village rapidly declined and in a few years was gone. The post office, first established on November 28, 1817 with Charles G. Humphrey as postmaster finally was closed on December 17, 1845.

Some of the older houses of the town fell into decay and others were torn down. Still others were removed to new locations or burned. The plat of the village was vacated and the lots returned to farmland. Brownsville was added to the list of vanished villages of Southern Illinois.

In its better days the town was rather prominent, rated by some as among the three most important towns in the state. One measure of its importance is indicated by the fact that when there were only three banks in Illinois, one of them was in Brownsville.

Few Traces Remain

Today about all one can see to indicate the site of the departed village is a couple of stone-walled wells, a few low mounds of brick-filled rubble indicating the sites of old chimneys, a trace of the foundations of the county jail, some stretches of sunken roadway, scattered bits of blue flowered china, a few slight depressions that were once cellars or cisterns, and an old cemetery on a nearby hill where the latest recorded burial was in 1844.

One of the earlier free public schools in Illinois, possibly the first one, was established at Brownsville on June 25, 1825. This was under the first free public school law, introduced by Joseph Duncan, then state senator from Jackson county and later governor of the state. One of its teachers, James D. McMurry, commonly called "Hopping John," long ago loaded his flat boat with produce taken in payment for his teaching and passed to his death down the river.

Noted attorneys came to practice in the court at Brownsville. Sidney Breeze, later to become a noted jurist and prominent citizen of Illinois, tried his first case in the court there. The dark-eyed Logan boy mentioned and described by Daniel H. Brush, often came to the village with his father, grew up to ride the family race horses, engaged in numerous youthful escapades and finally became a famous Civil War general and national figure.

William Boon's company of Rangers recruited in the vicinity and the company of soldiers that Alexander M. Jenkins assembled there for services in the Black Hawk war have long since answered the last roll call. Numerous Jackson county veterans of the Revolutionary War, who doubtless gathered at the local tavern to recount their experiences in the conflict that gave the nation its freedom, are forgotten.

The town with its stray pen, county jail, ferry boat, tan yard, gristmill, shoe shop, wagon shop, hatter's shop, and numerous other establishments that were parts of the typical pioneer village now may be seen only in the visitor's imagination. The distinctive soul of the heavily laden ox-wagons that lumbered up from the ferry and slowly crept along the roadway that led to the north have long since been silenced.

The silent and beaten Indians, who came from the Kaskaskia reservation at Sand Ridge to wander about the town, have likewise vanished. The militia no longer meets at the old drill grounds. Politicians no longer assemble to plan campaigns. Today, no stagecoaches stop at Meehan's tavern.

Two Killed, Eight Hurt When Ore Bucket Derails in Mine

READING, Pa. (AP)—Two miners were killed and eight others were injured Wednesday when a huge ore bucket in which they were riding became derailed 1,300 feet below the surface.

The two who were killed fell 200 feet to the bottom of the shaft. They were identified as James Smallwood, 35, Philadelphia, and Clifford Davis, 53, Elverson, Pa. The accident occurred in a shaft of the Grace iron mine of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. at nearby Morgantown.

Hats are Exciting in Color and Trim

Little hats with a level look make the most fashion news this spring. We show here (upper left) a little profile bonnet of ice blue straw by Sally Victor. This has long-stemmed roses in red and pink at one side with stems entwined on crown. Hat with visored segment brim (upper right) is by Harryson in vivid Granada orange tony. It's topped with whip and silk pompoms in matching orange. Hat made of row-on-row of black-and-natural milan straw (lower left) is edged with flange of velvet. This is a Chanda design. Neat toque of yellow toyo by Sally Victor has wing of the straw at one side (lower center) for dramatic flair. Opal straw with a pearly look is used (lower right) by Beatrice Martin for shallow bonnet trimmed with white silk rose and pearlized quills. The small, pretty look of spring hats is keyed to the slim lines of ready-to-wear.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Close-ups and Longshots: The battle of the big screens is really on. Paul Mantz, responsible for so much of the thrilling aerial footage in "This is Cinerama," has been wooed away from Cinerama by 20th Century-Fox. He will repeat his camera wizardry from the air in Cinema-scope shorts to be produced by Otto Lang.

Whether Hollywood likes it or not, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences is considering a telefilm category for future Oscar awards.

Red Skelton's saying he's ready to accept a BBC TV offer in England if his home-screen clowning winds up minus a sponsor at the end of this season.

Horace MacMahon and Louise Campbell, the ex-Paramount star, expect their second child next month. Then it's a career comeback for pretty Louise. It was Horace who almost fell out of his chair when he saw a British movie on TV the other night: "No one wore a trenchcoat and no one drove a Jaguar."

LIKES BEING A CREEP
Peter Lorre shed his Merchant of Venice title to play a role with humor in "Beat the Devil," but he's not beating his chest in rage over night-club comics who still satirize him as a creep.

Let the impersonators slit throats and baroque babies under purple spotlights. Lorre loves it—leer after leer. He's been a star for 20 years—I mean years—and he says:

"I give credit to these night-club creeps. They've kept my name alive. They work for me for nothing."

Back in Hollywood for the first time in four years, Lorre will be on the light-comedy side again in Walt Disney's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." He's been emoting in England and Germany, where he married a pretty movie press agent. They have a year-and-a-half-old daughter.

"It's fantastic," says Peter, about the child. "She looks like me yet she's pretty."

Linda Christian isn't through with her movie career by a long shot. When Mrs. Ty Power didn't set the world afire in "The Happy Time," it was whispered that she would forget about flicker fame. But she recently tested for the new Martin-Lewis comedy, "The Big Top."

World's Population May Exceed Four Billion In 50 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's population is growing at an unprecedented rate and may top the four billion mark by the year 2000, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

The bureau, a private research organization, estimates that there are now 2,500,000,000 human beings on this planet, and that about half of them are chronically underfed.

The present rate of population growth, slightly more than one per cent a year, means 70,000,000 more mouths to feed every day.

Rise Since 1650

The earth's population climbed slowly until about 1650. Then followed a period of discovery—a new continent to the west, Galileo's compound microscope, Harvey's discovery of the blood circulation. Medical research and the development of vaccines and bacteria control improved health and food, and population jumped from an estimated 500,000,000 in 1650 to about five times that today.

Many heavily populated places such as China, India and Africa, have only recently begun to feel the benefits of modern medicine, and the bureau believes the growth of population will accelerate in the next few decades.

Food Problem

In an attempt to cope with the problem of providing adequate food for this swelling population, scientists have experimented in recent years with the possibility of producing synthetic foods from algae, plankton and chemical substances.

Experiments with the algae show that this green "pond scum" can produce 15 to 20 tons of dry matter, having a 50 per cent protein content, per acre of water.

It is also possible to add to the world's larder by increased agricultural production and more effective distribution.

But the bureau says it would take years for sufficient synthetic food supplies or increased yields to relieve the problem appreciably. Meanwhile, millions more hungry people will have arrived.

The bureau believes the only solution is to develop techniques of population control which will "prove as acceptable to the peoples of the world as are the tools and techniques of death control."

George Washington never read his Farewell Address in public. Full of political wisdom and valuable advice, the document was dated Sept. 17, 1796, and first was printed in a Philadelphia newspaper.
